

Marriage Intensives with House on the Rock

Your interest in a marriage intensive means that you believe there is still hope for your marriage. That's all we ask ... that you can still see a flicker of life ... and have a willingness to fan that flame back into a meaningful marriage. You owe it to yourself, your spouse and your children to make that effort.

Acknowledging your need for an intervention ... or a miracle ... is the first step to transforming your relationship. You might believe you're too far apart ... too hurt and damaged ... or too far gone to save your marriage. We believe that our time together can help you begin to stop the craziness so you can begin putting your relationship with God and each other back together again.

May we encourage you ... before you choose to extinguish the flame of your marriage forever, to make at least one more try?

What is a "Fan the Flame Marriage Intensive"?

Our marriage intensives are more than a couple's weekend retreat. They are intimate, personalized coaching sessions designed to help you identify and address your specific needs. Intensives are more powerful than one hour counseling sessions because they keep you both focused on your issues for an extended period of time. You will receive over 15 hours of personalized counseling, coaching and marriage building exercises that will fan the flame of your marriage back to life.

Where are these intensives held?

We want you to get away from the distractions and daily routines that complicate your life so you can focus on yourselves and your marriage. You will be our guests at either Sandy Cove Retreat Center in Maryland (www.sandycove.org) Spruce Lake Retreat Center in the Poconos (www.sprucelake.org) or our guests at our home office area in Lancaster County, PA ... enjoying your own private room and bath with all your linens and towels provided ... and 3 great meals a day. Your job ... is to concentrate on yourselves and your marriage ... our mission is to focus on you.

“ It was a pleasure to be with them (Bruce and Karen) during our sessions. They have an authentic and true desire to see our marriage thrive. Their concern for helping us through the areas of our relationship that have been road blocks comes through during the sessions and afterwards during the down times of the intensive. They navigated us through some heated and tough discussions to bring us back to the reality that our marriage relationship and covenant is for a lifetime. Let's focus on the good that can come out of it. Enjoyed them and continue to appreciate and support their ministry. ”

“ My advice to couples is GO!! Do whatever you can to get there. Our marriage was transformed and yours can be too! ”
